

MARTINI AND CHEMNITZ (KUESTER'S EDITION) SYSTEM-
ATISCHES CONCHYLIEN-CABINET, 1837-1920,
A COMPLETE COLLATION

By RICHARD I. JOHNSON*

SMITH AND ENGLAND (1937), have in this Journal listed the dates and contents of the 584 numbers of this work as they appeared, based on the copy in the British Museum (Natural History). Their work is supplemental to the listing of numbers 175-299, 1861-80 previously done (Taschenberg, 1890). A collation of the volumes appeared in the Catalogue of the Library of the British Museum (Natural History) (3:1252-1253, 1910), but nothing published after 1906 was included.

The present collation is based on this previous account, on the copy in my library and the copy in the Museum of Comparative Zoology. It appears that some of the published parts were later cancelled by the publisher, as they were subsequently completely rewritten and do not seem to have been included with subscriptions to the work begun after 1890. They are: vol. 1, pt. 1. [Introduction, Cephalopoda] H. C. Kuester, 1837, pp. 1-24, Installment 1; vol. 1, pt. 25. Paludomus, Auct. [H. C. Kuester], 1862, pp. 1-8, Installment 179; vol. 8, pt. 1. Malleacea, H. C. Kuester, 1840, 41, pp. 1-16, Installments 21, 25; vol. 10, pt. 3. Cardiaceen, Donax [H. C. Kuester], 1841, pp. 1-8, Installment 28. The complete work contains 3,373 plates, all but 63 of which are colored, mostly by hand.

This new collation is intended to complete the previous one, as well as to give more details on the numbering of the plates. The dates of the parts are given in such a way as to indicate when a large hiatus occurred between the commencement and completion of a part. The contents of the individual installments are noted only when information supplemental to that found in Smith and England was available. The seeming inconsistencies in the listings of the parts and sections is an attempt to preserve the original order of the editors. In this compilation the plates are to be considered colored unless they are specifically listed as being plain. Each part with text is generally preceded by a double title page which is not part of the numbered pages. Certain German words have been translated into English:

Band	Volume
Abtheilung	Part
