

Gyula M. LÁSZLÓ was born in Budapest in 1970 and graduated at the University of Agricultural Sciences, Gödöllő, studying there entomology and ecology besides the usual agricultural subjects. His main interest is the taxonomy of certain Geometridae groups (e.g. Ennominae, Bistonini), his private collection comprises some 60.000 specimens from all parts of the wide sense Palearctic region. He has started the monographic treatment of the Eurasian Thyatiridae together with Gábor RONKAY, László RONKAY and Thomas J. WITT in 1998.

Gábor RONKAY has started the collecting of the nocturnal moths from his childhood and deals with the taxonomy and biogeography of various Noctuidae groups for more than thirty years. He is the author of some 35 scientific papers and the Cuculliinae volumes of the Noctuidae Europaeae series. He led several expeditions to different regions of Eurasia and has a giant collection of the Old World Noctuidae comprising more than 5500 taxa.