We have the honour to invite you to Sweden for a Conference around "the oak-tree" 9-11 may 2006. The name of the conference is "The oak - history, ecology, management and planning". It will be held in English and we have speakers from Holland, England, Germany and Sweden. In total 25 speakers during two days indoors and a third day out in the fields, in the oaklandscapes in the neighbourhood of Linköping 250 km SW Stockholm. The subjects will touch everything from fungi, beetles and the tree it self, to production, restoration, dynamics and culture questions. The speakers and the participants will come from universities, authorities, consultants but also be good and interesting amateurs.

Please read more on the homepage of Swedish Environmental Protection Agency (Naturvårdsverket).
