

First European Congress of Entomology

Following the initiative of representatives of a number of European entomological societies that met in Giessen (Germany) in March 1976, the Royal Entomological Society of London will sponsor the First European Congress of Entomology, which will be held at Reading University in Great Britain from 19.–22. IX. 1978. Entomologists, whether amateur or professional, are cordially invited to the congress. It is anticipated that attendance at the Congress will cost about £ 50 for those booking full accommodation and participating in all events and visits. The Lepidoptera of Finland: a new handbook

The first volume of a planned series of handbook on the Lepidoptera of Finland has recently appeared. The first volume deals with approximately one half of the noctuids of Finland. The series is edited by the Finnish Lepidopterological Society and – to judge from its first volume – is of a high standard; a review of this appears on p. 93 of this number of Nota lepidopterologica. By the courtesy extended to SEL by the Lepidopterological Society of Finland SEL members may order this book at the same special price as their own members: FMk 75,– (this represents about 25% discount). The book can be ordered from:
