

NEWS FROM THE TRICHOPTERORUM CATALOGUS

As you have read in Trichoptera Newsletter No.4, I intended to send complete lists of references on Trichoptera literature, 1961-1970, to the recipients of the Newsletter. For several reasons, this seems not to be the brilliant idea I thought it was. Dr. Andrew Nimmo, who is preparing a bibliography over the same period, was kind enough to send me his references, so I could complete his list. In this cooperation we have so far collected 1318 titles, and I think we have covered most of the relevant literature. To type out this list would take a lot of time and about a hundred pages in the Newsletter. It is questionable if all this work would result in many additions. I therefore abandoned the original idea and I hope we are as complete as possible.

The following references are not in the fifteen volumes of Fischer's Catalogus and certainly more are missing. I should be grateful for any additions you can send me. They will be incorporated in the next volume.

Dr. Neboiss and Dr. Barnard have already drawn my attention to some taxonomic problems in the Catalogus, concerning the authorship of names in the "Trichoptera of Australia and New Zealand" and the validity of the genus Dasystegia. These problems make me (as a non-taxonomist) shiver, but they are of extreme importance. Such comments are of course very useful and they are welcomed.
