TRICHOPTERA NEWSLETTER

---

No. 9

August 1982

Dear Trichopterologist,

This Newsletter comes to you later than expected. In winter and spring I was in Greece, Italy and Tunisia on two research trips. I have only now found time to compile this number.

The contents of this Newsletter follow the usual pattern, with information from several countries, and with the continuation of the lists of Trichoptera workers and of the literature. You will find details and registration forms of the next Trichoptera Symposium, which will be organized by John Morse in Clemson, South Carolina, USA, next year. The forms may be detached and used for registration. Please note also the enclosed prospectus of the TASMANIAN CADDISFLIES by Arturs Neboiss which is an important new book of interest to Trichoptera workers all over the world. There is also the sad news of the sudden death of Professor J. Illies.

You may be interested to know that the Trichoptera Newsletter is arousing an increasing amount of interest. Only 60 copies of number 1 were produced; about 500 copies of number 9 are being mailed to 42 countries in all continents. Some reference journals now include citations from the Newsletter, but it should be remembered that it is intended for fast communication between Trichoptera workers all over the world, and not as a place for publishing scientific papers.

I am well aware that some copies of earlier Newsletters were of poor quality. I am sorry about this, but I could not check all pages of an edition of several hundred copies. I have now found a way which promises a better quality, but if your copy should lack pages or include some which are unreadable, please let me know, and I shall send you a better copy.

The next issue of the Newsletter is expected to appear about April 1983. Your contributions are welcome, but please be sure that they arrive early enough to be included.

Yours sincerely,

Hans Malicky

COVER: A page from the ATLAS OF EUROPEAN TRICHOPTERA, to be published soon.
