ENDERLEIN TYPES

Dozent Dr.A.Liama informed me in a recent letter that the types of several insect species described by G.ENDERLEIN, in particular Psocoptera, are now in the Zoological Institute of the Polish Academy of Sciences, ul.Wilcza 64, PL-00-679 Warszawa. Unfortunately the Trichoptera types are not there, and their fate remains unknown.

(In particular, the type of Hydropneuma juba could not be found, but I am now sure that it is a valid species and not a synonym of Hydroptila fortunata, as I will show soon in a publication.)

DIPSEUDOPSIS TO BE REVISED

i am interested to know if anyone is working, or is likely to work, on the taxonomy of Southern Asian Dipseudopsis. I have some fine material but identification is almost impossible from the poor descriptions in the literature. It is necessary to study all the types e.g. by Banks and Ulmer. Perhaps somebody has already done this?
